Hi sir , what are your discord id or discord name? Hey i'm new here, but not to d2jsp. Historical price is just one isolated fact that allows us to evaluate the performance of a stock. The historical price of $60 allows us to compare where the stock is today with what it has been valued at by the market in the past. Thus, the historical price gives us a factual basis, for the above example, to conclude that the stock has performed very well relative to its IPO price. If you were to sell today, the amount you could get is generally set by current market prices. It is important to note that there are, in fact, multiple stock exchanges as well as multiple indexes which are collectively referred to as "the market." Knowing how to use these is essential for the investor. Take, for instance the case of Duke Energy, because we dont have any recent Trade for JohnMarket; 09-29-2021 at 12:22 AM.
